Chronic Bronchitis Cured.

"For ten years I had chronic bronchitis so bad that at times I could not speak above a whisper," writes Mr. Joseph Coffman, of Monticello, Ind. "I tried all remedies available, but with no success. Fortunately my employer suggested that I try Foley's Kidney Cure. Its effect was almost miraculous, and I am now cured of the disease. On my recommendation many people have used Foley's Kidney Cure and Tar, and always with satisfaction." Sold by H. C. Crute.

BRIEFS AND PERSONALS.

This is from "Sonnets From the Portuguese," sonnets which were not translated from the Portuguese, but were original with Mrs. Browning, and were written for the purpose of expressing her feelings toward the man who afterwards became her husband. How do I love thee? Let me count the ways I love thee to the depth and breadth and height

My soul can reach, when feeling out of sight For the ends of Being and Ideal Grace; I love thee to the level of every day's Most quiet need, by sun and candlelight; I love thee freely, as men strive for Right; I love thee purely, as they turn from Prayer; I love thee with the passion put to use In my old griefs, and with my childhood's faith; I love thee with a love I seemed to lose With my lost saints—I love thee with the breath, Smiles, tears, of all my life—and, if God choose, I shall but love thee better after death.

What about the outlook for oats? Have you a good stock of clover? Have you a good stock of hogs? Do you buy bailed hay?

Have you been looking after the fruit trees?

Are you going to plant your usual crop of tobacco?

A large number of extra copies of the Herald will be printed next week.

Mr. Hunter Baldwin, of Manchester, was in town several days this week.

Mr. Weather has retarded garden work.

We have heard of no frost bite which caused injury to fruit.

Col. W. W. Forbes, who has been very ill, is much improved, which fact his friends will read with pleasure.

Everything that's new you will see at Mrs. Hunt's millinery opening Tuesday and Wednesday 7 and 8.

The Herald next week will be a daisy. Every line, editorial and local from the hands of fair daughters of the Normal.

New subscribers to the Herald are enrolled daily, and they come as voluntary tributes to a first class local newspaper.

Dr. Thomas Armistead, of Roanoke, spent several days here this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Armistead.

A street fair and carnival would enliven business and furnish abundant recreation for all our people. Let's have something of the sort.

The dynamo of the electric plant will have to be sent to Philadelphia for repairs and the town will be deprived of the light for at least two weeks.

A large crowd should turn out tonight to hear the concert given by Miss Minor's music class for the benefit of the Methodist parsonage fund.

Mr. Wm. T. Rice, Farmville's oldest citizen, is in extremis. He has been sick for several weeks and his family and children are constantly about his bedside.

The saloons have now been closed for nearly two weeks, and all other business moves on just the same. A dry town doesn't necessarily look lonesome or bad.

Miss Anna Freear has returned from an extended visit to friends in Richmond. She was accompanied by Mrs. R. C. Traylor, who spent the week here, returning home today.

The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium contest takes place Friday night of next week. It will be held at the armory. About $50 worth of prizes have been offered by the merchants of Farmville, and the contest promises to be one of great interest.

The Mann bill does not extend "to health resorts having natural mineral springs," and doesn't this exception open a wide door to a first class saloon at the Litch Springs? The party would escape from taxes and yet enjoy town patronage. It is hard to down the liquor question with us.

The Normal issue of the Herald comes next in order. It will be a red letter day in the history of the Herald. Persons who desire extra copies will send in their orders in advance. Don't forget this. It costs something to print papers, and unless there is demand for them we can't afford the expense. Let us hear from you.

The electric lights are now run all night. This advanced enterprise on the part of the town should be encouraged by every citizen. The prices for light in home, office and store are reasonable and the service good. In this connection it is urged that patrons turn off their lights when not in use. It is not only saved for the town to do this, but your lamps as well.

On a recent visit to our cemetery we noticed a wreath of galax leaves, sent from the far north as a tribute to a mother's grave. These galax leaves are from our Southern mountains, and the gathering of them is a new industry for the mountaineers who have been brought to the front of late by Charles Egbert Craddock and John Fox. The gatherers are paid ten cents per thousand, but sell for many dollars in the cities.

Normal School Notes.

Miss Janie Jones and Virginia Fletcher spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Susie Watkins at her home near Farmville.

Miss Rena Armstrong, a former student, entered the Normal Saturday, to pursue her studies until June.

Miss Andrews was confined to her room Monday by sickness.

Misses Janie Crute and Edna Elean spent Saturday and Sunday at their homes near Sheppards, Buckingham county.

Miss Janie Adair took dinner Sunday with Miss Virginia Reynolds, at Mrs. Berkeley's.

Mrs. J. L. Jarman is absent visiting President Jarman's sister in Staunton, Virginia.

The Normal staff for the Farmville Herald are busily engaged in preparing for that edition of the paper, which promises to be one of special interest and originality.

The training school teachers' work will be changed this week, this being the middle of the second term. The girls are very anxious to know what this new work will be.

Three large poles have been erected in different parts of the Normal yard. On these poles, electric lights will be placed so that the corners of the yard will not be quite so dark as heretofore.

Editor Herald:—Farmville is the leading town in Southside Virginia, and why she should be content to remain without telephone connection with all surrounding business centres is a great mystery to me.

The Dispensary Question.

Those who went to Richmond to appear before the legislative committee, both for and against the repeal of the dispensary law, returned yesterday. It was with the confident expectation on the part of the anti dispensary people that the law would be repealed unless the anti-saloon workers would agree to the proposition made there by Senator Watkins to hold an election. On the other hand the dispensary advocates all the while seemed to be more than confident of victory without asking for a majority vote, and hence stood pat. It was soon evident to the opponents of a dispensary, after they had reached Richmond, that there was little or no chance of repealing the act without the co-operation of both their Senator and member of the House, and this being refused them the matter was abandoned and the bill already offered for repeal withdrawn.

It appears now the town is certainly to have the dispensary, although it was understood yesterday that Delegate Owen would offer an amendment to the dispensary act authorizing the town to establish the business only after there has been a vote taken.

The town council will elect two members of the dispensary board at its next meeting, April 14th. The terms of Mr. W. T. Clark and Dr. Winston will have both expired on the 15th last. There were terms for one and two years respectively.

The plans of the saloon keepers have not been made. It is probable that Mr. O'Garra and Mr. Mannell will both remain in Farmville.

Shot by a Negro Tramp.

Extra Conductor Luther Robertson, of the Norfolk and Western railway, was shot and probably mortally wounded about 12 o'clock Tuesday night in the yard at Crewe. He was attempting to put down a negro from his train when a revolver was placed to his side and two shots fired. One ball plowed its way through the body inflicting seventeen distinct perforations in the intestines. Dr. Anderson, of this place, was immediately summoned, and assisted by Dr. Bryant, of Crewe, operated upon the wounded man. After the wound was dressed Robertson was as comfortable as could have been expected. Dr. Anderson sent Mrs. Humphreys down to Crewe on the afternoon train to nurse Robertson.

The Norfolk and Western authorities are making every effort to arrest the man who shot the conductor, and if captured there will probably be a lynching. Should Robertson die, which seems likely, he will leave a wife and three small children.

Torn Stamps Not Good.

The Postoffice Department has under preparation a small book, to be issued to patrons of the postoffices throughout the country, which will contain a great amount of information regarding the business of the postoffice which is not generally known. The book will be in measure one of instruction as to how to transact business with the postoffice. One of the things to be treated will be the use of the mutilated stamps or letters. It is not generally known to users of postage stamps that a torn or defaced stamp cannot be used. Persons who have torn stamps in their possession have been in the habit of pasting the two pieces together and thus placing it on a letter. This is prohibited in the postal regulations and the person who uses such a stamp runs the risk of not having his or her letter delivered. Sometimes the stamps are so well repaired that the tear escapes detection, but should the rent in the stamp be found by the postal officials it is of no value. The book will also contain information regarding the registry and money order systems.

Baby Was Struck.

Morris Glover and John Richmond, two bad negroes, were locked in jail Wednesday by Policeman Fogus charged with fighting in the street and with carelessly striking and injuring a two-year-old child.

The negroes were fighting on South street over a woman named Annie Fitz and during the fight John Richmond is said to have thrown a brick with terrific force at Glover. The brick went through a window into the house of the woman about whom the row was precipitated, and striking her child knocked it senseless. Another brick struck the mother on her arm painfully injuring it. The baby is said to be seriously hurt.

Grade 7: Margorie Thompson, Nellie Smith.

6: Louise Gray.

5: Lena Gilliam, Basil Jackson, Gray Paulett, Annie Gray.

3: Gertrude Gilliam, Emmett Webster.

2: Fannie Berman, Mattie Berman, Lella Richardson.

1: Everett Wilkerson.

Personal Explanation.

In view of the fact that there have been some harsh criticisms of me because as a stockholder in the Farmville Telephone company, and at the same time being a member of the town council, I brought to the attention of the council the question of raising the price of residential phones from $10.00 to $15.00 per annum. I wish to say that never as councilman have I voted on a question in which was involved any of my personal interests, and at the time of taking the vote on the question relative to the raising of 'phone prices, I purposely absented myself from the council chamber.

Confederate Bazaar.

All over the South we have placed monuments to our private soldiers and sailors and their great commanders.

It now remains for the Capitol of the Confederacy to crown the whole by raising one to our first, our last, our only President, the head of our civil government—a government as wonderful as it was brief.

We owe this duty to ourselves, and to our children, that they may realize what a sublime record was made for them in history. The whole South unites in this loving tribute to the men who died to uphold that government, and to those who, with no less devotion, steered the Ship of State. What have you done to help us? What will you do to complete the work? We ask both your influence, and your sympathy, that we may build a monument worthy of our people and their deathless past.

This movement is endorsed by the United Confederate Veterans and the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mrs. N. V. RANDOLPH, Mrs. JOSEPH BRYAN, Mrs. STEPHEN PUTNEY, Committee.

All parcels of not over 25 pounds, addressed to Mrs. Stephen Putney, President Confederate Bazaar, Richmond, Va., will be delivered free by the express companies.
